THURSDAY, FEB. 23, 1871. Concerning that Deficit.

The following attempt at an explanation of the alleged ninety thousand dollars deficit in the State Treasury, is from the Courier of 18th inst:

It seems that the appropriations and disbursements for the fiscal year ending September 20, 1870, exceeded the receipts by something over $90,000. The present State officers have attempted to produce a different impression, instead of there are theing a large surplus as they represent, there was an actual deficit at the end of the last listal year of the amount above stated. To figure out a contrary resulf, they have added the receipts of three with several of the cars. The body of Hess, an unmarried man, was about twelve o'clock, and forwarded to his late home, at New South Wales, Cornhill Magazine; in Riverina, New South Wales, Cornhill Magazine; Frien A. statement, at least, does not appear to be true. The reports of the Auditor and From the Cin. Gazette. Treasurer do not show any addition of the receipts from October 1, 1870 to January 1, 1871, to those of the fiscal year. They profess only to give the receipts for the fiscal year ending October 1, 1870. If the amount of the receipts thus stated did actually include those of the three succeeding months, it would be a fullification of the books and a fraud. Nothing of the kind is charged. Nort could such a thing happen, because the reports were prepared shortly after Octo. reports were prepared shortly after October 1st, and were in the hands of the printers long before the first of January. Besides, three fourths of the taxes are due the middle of December, and if the receipts up to January 1st had been included, the aggregate of receipts must have been two or three hundred thousand dollars greater than reported.

There has been an evident attempt to man. The engineer, whose name is Stanley, had four or five ribs broken, and was otherwise injured. One of the brakemen, whose name we did not learn, was also badly hurt. Eight or ten horses were killed outright, and more or less damage done to the remainder of the property. What caused the accident is left to conjecture. One version is that a stone had rolled down upon the track, which the engine nassed over in safety, but which create a wrong impression in this matter, to put it mildly. The simple fact appears to be indicated by the Courier's own report of the report on the subject submitport of the report on the subject submit-ted to the house by Mr. Jackson, threw the tender from the track.

of the Figure Committee, and quoted in our synopsis of proceedings it may, it is a sad one in its consequences, yesterday. The reporter says Mr.

Jackson submitted a report "showing a deficit in the treasury October 1, 1870, of $\frac{1}{2}$ will be up, and the cars will soon again be the wear ending Sentences 1, 1970 seen. the year ending September 30, 1870, were that much in excess of the receipts up to that time." With this simple and lucid state- of the Guernsey Times has taken a trip ment from its reporter, the editor of the over the Hempfield and writes as fol-Courier ought to have been able to make lows : a more accurate statement in his editorial a more accurate statement in his editorial column than that above quoted. The pleasant town of Washington, Pennsylvania. We traveled from Wheeling on appropriations not naid. They were not paid because the revenues were insufficient to pay them. That was no fault of the Auditor. He warned the Legislature a year ago that they were appropriating more money than would come into the treasure and it so turned out. To not it six lengthy tunnels and a corresponding money than would come into the treasury and it so turned out. To accommodate the public business of the State, and tide over the mistake of the Legislature till another could assemble, the Auditor borrowed for the use of the general treasury out of the school fund in the treasury, as his report shows, some poor fellow died because he could not get on the train. The Superintendent, and to the trains. sixly thousand dollars. He had to choose between this course and horrowing of the banks, or of letting the wheels of public business atop. As there were two or three hundred thousand dollars of school fund on that occasion. The agent at Wheeling mistook us for a minister, and insisted on business stop. As there were two or three hundred thousand dollars of school fund that under a change of the law was lying life in the banks and would not be used till the close of the year, this use of the formed him that we regarded it worth the money occasioned no embarrassment to that fund, while it saved much embarrassment elsewhere. The Auditor, we think, below the appropriations for the year ninety-two thousand dollars, and fell below the expenditures for the year sixty thousand dollars, the latter sum having farcical manner, if we may credit late been borrowed temporarily for the public New York journals. The police now say accommodation out of the school fund. that the existence of this misguided youth It is apparent, therefore, that this sixty is purely imaginary, only one woman, out recording thousand dollars is the real deficit, just as we showed it to be when we reviewed the Auditor's report three or four weeks ago. Striped—and she was stuck with a pin only. But, notwithstanding the denial deficit," because it is not money paid out. There was an over draft of ninety-two thousand. Sixty thousand of it was paid by borrowing, and the balance of it was left unpaid. That appears to be the sum and substance of the whole business. When a bank account is over thousand dollars is the real deficit, just as of all those mentioned, being found to the sum and substance of the whole business. When a bank account is over drawn it is not usual to abuse the bank.

DOISONOUS MEDICINES.

The theory links the virus of disease can safely counteracted by doses of poison, is false and dangerous. Within the last twenty-five year not less than a score of virulent poisons have been added to the repository of the medical profession. They are given in small doses, other resein. They are given in siman doses, outside they would destroy life immediately; but even in minute quantities, they produce, ultimately, very disastrous effects. It is unwise and unphilosophical to employ as remedies, powerful and insidious drugs, which, in subjugating one disease, sow the seeds of another still more ents operates with as much directness and cer-Arsenic and quinta are given for intermittenta; bromide of potassium for nervous disorders; strychulne and prussic acid for general debility; preparations of chloroform and research and yet at the property of the property price to carry us over the road. An in-teresting feature of the trip was the em-barkation of several seminary girls at "Hard Scrabble," who entertained us with ment elsewhere. The Auditor, we think did the best thing he could have done under the circumstances, and is to be commended, not blamed.

No explainations other than those above noticed have come to hand; but with these and the reports of the Auditor and Treasurer before us, it appears that all the Register's bugaboo amounts to is simply this: that the revenues for the year fell below the appropriations for the year fell below the appropriations for the year fell below the appropriations for the year fell below the specific process.
